

Aerial (Aerial.ttf from ttf-arkpandora-2.04)

This Neo-Grotesque Sans font mostly supports Latin1 languages (W. European, without l-with-centre-dot for Catalan and also without the ij digraph for Dutch). It also has some other accented letters which allow it to cover Slovenian (but not D-stroke used in transcribing foreign names) and Turkish.

For variations of the Latin, Cyrillic, and Greek alphabets I attempt to show the whole alphabet, followed by Article 1 of the UDHR (it is traditional!). For the other scripts and languages I merely display the digits (if not common 0..9) and Article 1.

This document was prepared using X<sub>Y</sub>TEX and fontspec. Depending on the font, missing glyphs will be replaced either by nothing at all (occasional fonts do that), a blank space, an empty box, or some other symbol indicating a missing glyph.

For unexplained reasons, xelatex needs to be pointed to the italic font, it does not find it via fontconfig.

The letter forms used in italic fonts do not always match those used in regular fonts. Here is some English text to cover all letters: a quick brown fox jumped over the lazy dogs A QUICK BROWN FOX JUMPED OVER THE LAZY DOGS.

This font has regular and bold weights for normal and italics.

2 Quotation-marks, etc.

In real-world usage, particularly when looking at news sites, the presence or absence of the correct quote characters will make a difference. As a coder, I use '...' or "...". but in good text there are variations and this font supports:

left and right double quotes "..."	„...“
single turned comma,	guillemets «...»
with right single quote '...'	angle quotes <...>

In Spanish languages, the inverted exclamation-mark ¡ and inverted question-mark ¿ are necessary.
