

AR PL UMinG CN (from uming.ttc 0.2.20080216)

This Chinese Serif font covers Simplified Chinese, most European languages using the Latin alphabet, and Vietnamese. Russian is discounted because the glyphs have too much space, similarly monotonic Greek which also tends to oblique.

For variations of the Latin alphabets I attempt to show the whole alphabet, followed by Article 1 of the UDHR (it is traditional!). For other scripts and languages I merely display the digits (if not common 0..9) and Article 1.

The UKai and UMinG TTCs were a proof of concept to support Minnan and Hakka, but the project apparently stalled. In the various versions (CN, HK, TW and TWMBE) only 2 glyphs (U+4EE4 and U+9AA0) differ in the Han glyphs, and 13 Bopomofo glyphs differ between TW and TWMBE.

This document was prepared using X<sub>Y</sub>T<sub>E</sub>X and fontspec. Missing glyphs will be replaced by an empty box. The English text is monospaced, The glyphs for Latin alphabets are monospaced, but X<sub>Y</sub>T<sub>E</sub>X may add varying spacing to justify lines.

This font has only a normal style in a light weight.

This font lacks the OpenType tag 'hani' needed to use polyglossia for CJK scripts.

3.1 Vietnamese

The interesting features of Vietnamese are the use of horns on ‘o’ and ‘u’ to provide additional vowels, and the use of diacriticals to show the tone. The letters themselves are pre-composed, but displaying some of the individual tone markings requires combining accents.

4 Quotation-marks, etc.

In real-world usage, particularly when looking at news sites, the presence or absence of the correct quote characters will make a difference. As a coder, I use '...' or "...". but in good text there are variations and this font supports:

		angle quotes	<...>
left and right double quotes	“...”	angle brackets	<...>
		double angle brackets	«...»
single turned comma,		corner brackets	「...」
with right single quote ‘...’		white corner brackets	『...』
double low 9,
and left double quotes „ ... “

In Spanish languages, the inverted exclamation-mark ¡ and inverted question-mark ¿ are necessary.
